TOWARD A NEW MYTHOS

The Orion Nebula, Lick Observatory, Santa Cruz, California

“The lullaby of scientific progress, the dream of manipulating nature to suit our egotistic purposes is ended . . . Western civilization as a whole now finds itself between dreams . . .”

PROGRAM INFORMATION
REGISTRATION FORM

Hello!

This booklet lists almost 300 events which make up the program of AHP's 16th Annual Meeting. Glimpses of some highlights are included. The information is presented in four major categories:

MORNING THEME SESSIONS (pages 4-7)—An exciting innovation. Yesteryear's plenary keynote presentations have been replaced by facilitated dialogues involving smaller audiences and clusters of leading thinkers and doers.

AFTERNOON WORKSHOPS (pages 8-9)—AHP's traditional feast of about 200 presentations, each 1¾ hours long, many of them experiential. Seven sessions of workshops, each session composed of approximately thirty choices.

EVENING PROGRAMS (pages 10-11)—Four or five choices each evening after the opening night. A balanced offering of scholarly, multimedia, experiential and movement activities.

INSTITUTES (pages 12-13)—The increasingly popular one- and two-day, limited-attendance, extra-fee, intensive workshops. Twelve institutes before the Annual Meeting starts and five more afterwards.

AHP Annual Meetings are occasions at which anyone (professional or non-professional) wishing to explore the humanistic perspective is welcome.

If you haven't already registered and wish to do so, use the Registration Form on the inside back cover. I hope you join us in Toronto!

Cordially,

P.S. Many thanks to the hundreds of presenters—all volunteers—who have committed their talents toward making the Annual Meeting a memorable occasion.

MORNINGS

Elizabeth Campbell, AHP Executive Officer, writes, "This year's Annual Meeting will encompass a broad theme—personal and collective evolution. We will approach this consideration with humility, questioning and testing rather than pronouncing and prescribing."

In the past, the usual means of dealing with annual meeting themes has been through plenary, keynote presentations. However, AHP conference-goers, particularly at last year's Annual Meeting, have expressed a strong desire for more involvement in the consideration of the theme. At Toronto, morning programs will accommodate this desire by employing an unusual format.

On each of three mornings (Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, August 23, 24 and 25), between 9:00 and 11:30, ten theme sessions will be offered. Each of these will be led by a preselected theme presenter or team of presenters, a trained facilitator and a recorder. Registrants can choose which theme session to attend on the basis of descriptions in the program book. Attendance at each of the ten sessions will probably range from 50 to several hundred.

The main purpose of the theme sessions will be to encourage registrants to respond to the conference theme. To help this process, the theme presenter(s) will make presentations of theme-related information and ideas. The facilitator will then assist registrants to respond. As always at AHP meetings, registrants will respond in their own fashion, on their own terms.

The purpose of each theme session's recorder will be to observe the proceedings and deliver a comprehensive report to the theme information center (the Hub) of the Annual Meeting. At the Hub, a team of information processors will gather, sort, digest, summarize and publish a running commentary based on three sources: recorder reports, registrant reports (any registrant or group of registrants will be able to access the Hub), and closed circuit television observations of selected morning sessions. Each evening, between 7:15 and 8:15, the Hub team will present theme updates—commentaries on the day's theme-related activities—to which registrants will be able to respond.

We have been most fortunate in assembling more than 40 theme presenters remarkable for their interdisciplinary breadth, scholarliness and vision. Herewith, and on the next three pages, are glimpses of each of the ten theme approaches, including partial lists of the presenters in each theme session.

The Study of the Future

So complex has the human predicament become that planetary planning is now an important activity. Universities offer advanced degrees in the study of the future. The Club of Rome sponsors long-range computerized projections of current trends. Futurists play an increasingly influential role in government, business and other institutions. Historically, futurists have emphasized mathematical extrapolations; but those assembled at the Annual Meeting bring a humanistic sensitivity to their study. What have they to say about a human transformation? Ruben F. W. Nelson writes, "There is a need for deep psychic/social roots—security—in order to face the crises (and not mask them) and respond in a deep and sustained way."

RUBEN F. W. NELSON is a social policy analyst and researcher, social change consultant, management consultant, philosopher and theologian. He is President of Square-One Management, Ltd., in Ottawa, Ontario—an organization engaged in futures-oriented consulting, researching and teaching.

DON MICHAEL is Professor of Psychology and Planning at the University of Michigan, and Program Director of the University's Center for Research on the Utilization of Scientific Knowledge. He is the author of numerous books and papers on challenges of the future, including the need for but difficulties of implementing long-range social planning.

IRVING BUCHEN is Director of the Division of the Future at Fairleigh Dickinson University in Madison, New Jersey and author of two books and many articles.

MOSHE DAVIDOWITZ is President of the New York Chapter of the World Future Society and faculty member at Hofstra University and New York University.

JERRY GLENN is Executive Director of the Future Options Room in Washington, DC—a think tank for other think tanks, governments, corporations and associations. He is also the author of Space Trek.

BOB LOGAN is a physicist, author, professor, futurist, political activist and policy advisor. His research interests include elementary particle physics, energy conservation, media study, government-citizen communication, libraries and innovative education.

Education

The profound change that may be required to transform Western civilization's massive efforts at education is captured in this comment by Rachel Lauer: "Unconscious of the 'Public School System as Grand Myth', people have been hypnotically trapped in its rituals and symbols, its hierarchies of gods with magic powers, its scenarios of high drama and devastation. Humanistic psychologists and educators must expose the myth and break its spell over the masses. Then our minds will be free to create the systems of the future. How do we smash the idols?"

RACHEL LAUER is Professor of School Psychology at Pace and Fordham Universities in New York, former Chief Psychologist of the New York City School System, a general semanticist, Vice-president of the New York Chapter of World Futurists and a researcher in adult development theory.

BOB SAMPLES is author of The Metaphoric Mind and co-author of Opening: A Primer for Self-Actualization. He is a Co-director of Essentia, an educational organization that sponsors research, develops programs, produces and distributes films and conducts workshops, institutes and seminars.

JACK CANFIELD is founder of the New England Center; co-editor of Wholistic Education: The Journal of Humanistic and Transpersonal Education; President-elect of the Association for Humanistic Education; and co-author of 100 Ways to Enhance Self-Image in the Classroom and the forthcoming The Inner Classroom.

RODGER BYBEE is Professor of Education at Carleton College, Minnesota.

Humanistic psychology emphasizes qualities that have been subdued by the bigness and linearity of Western civilization—spontaneity, responsibility, loving, caring, creativity, valuing, authenticity, transcending, courage and self-realization. To encourage the flowering of these qualities humanistic therapy would center on the experiencing person, seeking the means to facilitate the integration of emotions and intellect, body and soul.

HOWARD EISENBERG is a psychotherapist in private practice, parapsychology lecturer and Special Conferences Coordinator at University of Toronto, and author of Inner Spaces: Parapsychological Explorations of the Mind.

GLORIA BEHAR GOTTSEGEN works toward the practical integration of humanistic psychology into the educational system through the Department of Specialized Services in Education, H. Lehman College, City University of New York. She is Past-president of Division 32 of the American Psychological Association.

JOHN WEISER is Chairman of the Department of Applied Psychology at the Ontario Institute for Studies in Education. He teaches counseling and does clinical supervision.

Arnold Toynbee argues that those who are most successful in a particular period of history cannot reasonably be expected to perceive the need for change as conditions alter. The ancient symbol for pre-nascence of the world has to do with the divine state of foolishness. The artist is the visionary of change. Writes Elizabeth Sewell, "My passion is to revive in myself and others the life of the imagination. I shall work with poetry as one of the great mental powers in non-linear evolution, which circles back (tradition) in order to leap forward (prophecy)."

ELIZABETH SEWELL is a poet and author of three novels and two collections of poetry. She is presently studying Renaissance magic.

DEL COATES is Professor of Industrial Design at Detroit's Center for Creative Studies, a design consultant and lecturer.

JAMES GOLDBERG is Director of Design Communication in San Francisco.

"What is the possible human?" asks Jean Houston. Humanistic theory assumes that we can be much, much more than we are; and it seeks to understand that potential for growth. It is a theory of hope. Floyd Matson contends, "The crisis of our culture has many faces: a crisis of confidence, surely; of consciousness, probably; of conscience, maybe; and of conversion, just possibly. If we are indeed 'between dreams', it may be that we are coming awake. Then how to transform our personal feelings of helplessness—in the face of technocracy and terror, bureaucracy and bugging, 'mediacracy' and mind control—into social acts of helpfulness? Toward a new Mythos, yes—and also a new Ethos and a new Eros: the Three Musketeers of the New Humanism, come to do battle with the Four Horsemen of the Old Apocalypse."

JEAN HOUSTON is Director of the Foundation for Mind Research, of the Dromenon Training Center, and of the New Ways of Being Institute. She is a professor at the New School for Social Research and President-elect of AHP.

FLOYD MATSON is Professor of American Studies at the University of Hawaii and author of Broken Image, Being, Becoming and Behavior, The Idea of Man and (with Ashley Montagu) the forthcoming The Human Connection.

WALTER HOUSTON CLARK is a mind researcher, retired Professor of Psychology of Religion at Andover Newton Theological School and President of the Academy of Religion and Psychical Research. He is the author of many books, including The Psychology of Religion, Chemical Ecstasy and Religious Experience.

ROLLO MAY is a therapist; lecturer; author of many books, including Love and Will, Power and Innocence and The Courage to Create; and a founding sponsor of AHP.

DONALD POLKINGHORNE is President and faculty member of the Humanistic Psychology Institute.

WILLIAM EARL RHODES is Professor of Philosophy at Metropolitan State College in Denver, Colorado.

Conscious Evolution

Conscious evolution deals directly with the desirability for the human species to actively engage in the evolutionary process. In her Theater for the Future, Barbara Marx Hubbard says, "Conscious evolution is to understand the processes that created us and purposefully to cooperate with them in planning our future. A fundamental tool of conscious evolution is synergy—learning how nature forms whole systems . . . for this is what we must do now."

In a real sense, billions of years of evolution have produced the human species, a part of which (the East) is passively conscious of evolution and the other part of which (the West) is active but Unconscious of evolution. Teilhard de Chardin and Sri Auribindo predict the next step: The entire human species actively participating in the evolutionary process.

BARBARA MARX HUBBARD is co-founder of The Committee for the Future and of The Center for Conscious Evolution; co-ordinator of Syncon, a synergistic convergence conference process; and author of The Hunger of Eve: A Woman's Odyssey Toward the Future.

BARRY McWATERS is Director of the Institute for the Study of Conscious Evolution and editor of Humanistic Perspectives: Current Trends in Psychology.

DONALD KEYS is co-founder and President of Planetary Citizens; UN Representative of World Federalists; and contributor to the Club of Rome Study, "Goals for Mankind." He is on the Board of Directors of UNA-USA, of the Institute for Consciousness Research in Iceland, and of the Psychosynthesis Institute in Canada.

ED ELKIN is consulting synergist to The Humanity Foundation and Omega 3; consulting psychologist to the Goodfield Institute; Vice-president of Quest Center for Human Growth; founding member of the Gestalt Institute of Washington, DC; and consultant to The Committee for the Future.

General Systems

The current human condition results from Western civilization "not being able to see the forest for the trees." We mindlessly overconsume, pollute, war with each other and stress ourselves—and then apply bandages to a condition that we do not comprehend as cancer.

General Systems studies the forest. George Land observes, "What we call General Systems has evolved from religion and magic through philosophy, and has since been called epistemology, ethology, cybernetics and a host of other names. The idea, then, is to unearth the deepest general laws of Nature, those laws that apply in theory and practice to 'everything'. Once you have these, then you begin to simplify . . ."

GEORGE LAND is a researcher and writer, developing a unified theory in evolution and working on the reconstitution of educational systems in early childhood and higher education. He is also a consultant in policy formation to government and major corporations.

ROBERT L. SCHWARTZ is Director of the School for Entrepreneurs and a co-founder of the Tarrytown Group—an organization designed to explore broad planetary concerns.

WILLIAM GEVARTER is Chief of the NASA Space Research on Artificial Intelligence and Robotics.

Health

In Western civilization's prevailing (allopathic) view, a healthy person is one who exhibits no adverse symptoms (usually physical symptoms). In the humanistic perspective, a healthy person is much more—the result of fulfilling needs for nutrition, exercise and movement, spiritual and inner life, interpersonal relationships, emotional expression and sexuality, community, productivity and creativity. This view suggests that each person not only is the authority on how she/he feels, but also has the ultimate responsibility for maintaining or restoring good health.

MORNINGS

Richard Grossman states, "Collective evolution includes the evolution of the definition of human health. At this point in that evolution, the principles and the speculations of the humanistic psychologies have much to teach us, dedicated as they are to exploring the possibilities of the whole person."

RICHARD GROSSMAN is Director of the Center for Health in Medicine and faculty member of the Residency Program in Social Medicine at Montefiore Hospital, Adjunct Associate Professor of Humanities at New York University, and author of Choosing and Changing.

CLAUDIO NARANJO is a psychotherapist, psychological researcher, and teacher at Nyingma Institute. He is the author of The One Quest and Journey to Healing.

LESLIE J. KASLOF is a researcher and writer on the medicinal use of plants and the interconnections of whole systems of therapy, founder of the International Institute for Botanical Research and the National Council on Wholistic Therapeutics and Medicine, and editor of Wholistic Dimensions of Healing.

FRANK SOMMERS is psychiatrist and filmmaker, Director of the Centre for Personal Growth, and lecturer in psychiatry at the University of Toronto.

An oft-quoted passage from William James' The Varieties of Religious Experience applies to this group: "One conclusion was forced upon my mind at that time, and my impression of its truth has ever since remained unshaken. It is that our normal waking consciousness, rational consciousness as we call it, is but one special type of consciousness, whilst all about it, parted from it by the filmiest of screens, there lie potential forms of consciousness entirely different. We may go through life without suspecting their existence, but apply the requisite stimulus, and at a touch they are there in all their completeness . . . No account of the universe in its totality can be final which leaves these other forms of consciousness quite disregarded."

WILLIS W. HARMAN is President of the Institute of Noetic Sciences and Associate Director of the Center for the Study of Social Policy, SRI International.

JUDITH SKUTCH is publisher of A Course in Miracles; President of the Foundation for Inner Peace; faculty member of New York University; and Secretary of the Board of Directors of the Institute of Noetic Sciences.

JOAN HALIFAX is a medical anthropologist, author of Schamanic Voices, A Survey of Visionary Narratives and co-author of The Human Encounter with Death, and teacher at the New School for Social Research.

ALBERTO VILLOLDO is author of Multi Cultural Guide to Early Education, co-author of The Realms of Healing, Member-at-Large of AHP's Executive Board, and a therapist in private practice.

A transformation of the human species is more apt to be an upwelling than a rebellion, millions of people shifting their perspective rather than a political leader's admonition. George Leonard writes in The Transformation, "Awareness is the Transformation and there is no force that can stop it. Revolutions, riots, strikes and subversion are not required to bring the old order down. It is only necessary that enough people—having established the requisite discipline and order, having faced the pain of change—can bring themselves to accept the intrinsic delight of existence. The most radical act of this age is perhaps to experience four straight days of joy, without anxiety or guilt or regret. Civilization cannot survive very many such days." Jacqueline Larcombe Doyle echoes, "The time approaches for the birth of a new paradigm—one of neither restraint nor rebellion—a spirit-infused paradigm designed around the healing power of love and our capacity to listen with regard to other human beings, setting aside prideful and distancing judgments."

JACQUELINE LARCOMBE DOYLE is a therapist in private practice and clinical supervisor of a drug treatment program.

BARBARA ANN TRENT is founder of Community Human Services Program in Illinois.

CHARLES HAMPDEN-TURNER is President of AHP; faculty member of the Wright Institute; and author of Radical Work and Sane Asylum.

GRETCHEN S. KOLSRUD works in the Office of Technology Assessment, US Congress; she manages a program which is attempting to better understand the implications of changing social values, attitudes and behavior for future developments and applications of technology.

FRANK RIESSMAN is editor of Social Policy; Co-director of the National Self-Help Clearinghouse in New York; a professor at Queens College, City University of New York; and co-author of Self-Help in the Human Services.

JAMES OGILVY is the author of Many Dimensional Man: Decentralizing Self, Society and the Sacred. He is Visiting Associate Professor of Philosophy at Williams College, Massachusetts.

INFORMATION

RESPONSES TO REGISTRANTS

Each registrant will receive at least two mailings from AHP: 1) a small packet containing registration receipt and other pertinent information; 2) in early August, a printed program which will describe the Annual Meeting and related activities in detail. An additional packet of printed information (updated program, campus maps and workshop locations, tourist attractions, etc.) will be available on-site.

CONFERENCE REGISTRATION

Fees for attending the 1978 Annual Meeting, which begins after dinner Tuesday evening, August 22, and concludes Saturday noon, August 26, are $60, fulltime student members of AHP or retired persons; $70, AHP members or fulltime student nonmembers; $80, nonmembers of AHP.

INSTITUTES REGISTRATION

Institutes are extra-fee, intensive workshops held before and after the Annual Meeting. With the exceptions of the three-day TORI Community Experience and Jack Gibb's two-day institute, attendance is limited to 40 per institute. One-day institute fees are $50 per registrant. Longer/shorter institute fees vary accordingly. Receipts for entry to institutes will be in the on-site packets of those who register for them. On-site registration for those institutes with open attendance will be available.

MEMBERSHIP

Membership in AHP includes receiving the quarterly Journal of Humanistic Psychology and the monthly AHP Newsletter, discounts at annual meetings and regional/topical/international conferences, opportunities to join local chapters and groups, discounts on special publications and directories, and an annual roster of AHP members.

TORI COMMUNITY EXPERIENCE

We anticipate several hundred registrants for Jack Gibb's three-day TORI Community Experience, August 18-20 (Trust, Openness, Responsibility, Interdependence). Contact AHP for more information. Fee is $45 per registrant (some food included). It is not necessary to register for the Annual Meeting in order to attend TORI.

CAMPUS HOUSING

Campus housing is available before, during and after AHP's conference. We encourage registrants to make housing arrangements as soon as possible to insure a room on campus.

Campus residence halls will have available a minimum of 350 singles (one single bed) rooms and 350 twin (two single beds) rooms — enough for more than 1,000 registrants. Dormitory-style housing (central lavatories and all) is increasingly popular at AHP conferences. University of Toronto residence halls vary somewhat in age and quality, but generally are better in appearance and comfort than most US campus equivalents.

Residence halls do not have equipment and personnel to take care of young children. Hotels, especially the Chelsea Inn, would be more appropriate (perhaps even less expensive) for families with young children. Daytime care for tots and Bob Williams' daytime children's conference will be available during the Annual Meeting only (August 23-26).

Per-night room rates vary slightly from hall to hall, but will be approximately $12-14 single room, and $8-10 (per person) twin room (Canadian dollars). Significant weekly discounts are available providing that upon arrival you make known your intention to stay one week.

For a fee of $5 per person (this is not a deposit), AHP will reserve campus rooms on a first-come, first-served, best rooms first basis. Room rentals are payable in full (Canadian dollars only) to the University of Toronto upon arrival on campus.

HOTEL HOUSING

AHP has reserved blocks of rooms in three nearby, first-class, air-conditioned hotels offering a variety of styles. Please deal directly with the hotels and specify AHP conference rates. August is the major tourist month in Toronto; therefore, hotel reservations should be made as soon as possible. All three hotels are part of the hotel complex for the APA convention following the AHP Annual Meeting. Rates listed are in Canadian dollars.

Park Plaza Hotel — Traditional, graceful, elegant. Five minute walk to conference center; one minute from subway. Conference rates: $35-37 per night single; $40-42 per night twin. Contact Reservations, Park Plaza Hotel, 4 Avenue Road, Toronto, Ontario, Canada M5R 2E8; phone 416-924-5471.

Four Seasons Hotel (formerly the Hyatt Regency) — Relatively new, 32-story, fashionable. Swimming pool. Across the street from the Park Plaza. Six minute walk to conference center; next to subway. Conference rates: $39 per night single, $46 per night double/twin. Contact Reservations, Four Seasons, 21 Avenue Road, Toronto, Ontario, Canada M5R 2G1; phone 416-964-0411. For reservations phone (Canada) 1-800-261-6282, (US) 1-800-828-1188.

Chelsea Inn — Friendly, English, low-key. Twenty minute walk to conference center; near subway. Conference rates: $28 per night single, $33 per night double; twenty units with kitchens available at $33-38 per night. Contact Reservations, Chelsea Inn, 33 Gerrard Street West, Toronto, Ontario, Canada M5G 1Z4; phone 416-595-1975.

MEALS

Meals will be available from a variety of sources such as on-campus cafeterias (modest prices, excellent food, vegetarian offerings); OISE cafeteria (modest prices, good food); hotels; nearby off-campus restaurants including pubs, short-order, quick-food and deluxe choices. Use Canadian money.

MONEY

Make all payments to AHP in US DOLLARS ONLY. Use Canadian dollars in Canada. We recommend changing to local currency in advance at banks or major airports. As of May 1978 the US-Canadian dollar exchange is such that approximately $100 (US) purchases $112 (Canadian).

REGISTRATION

To register for AHP's 16th Annual Meeting, mail this form with full payment — check or money order, US dollars only, made out to AHP — to: AHP, 325 Ninth Street, San Francisco, California 94103.

Use a separate form for each person registering. If you have any questions regarding registration, write us at the above address; enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope or postcard for a quick reply.

REFUND POLICIES: Except for $10 per applicant, which is non-refundable, refunds for conference registrations will be issued upon written request sent to AHP's San Francisco office through August 30, 1978. Refunds will be issued by check only (US dollars) and only from the San Francisco office. No refunds after August 30, 1978. The same refund policy applies to each institute and TORI registration, except $20 is non-refundable per applicant.
